DELIGHTFUL NEW YEAR'S RECEPTION AT THE MANSE

The silver tea and New Year's reception at the Manse was a decided uccess and a host of friends, both Presbyterian church members and others called during the hours from 3 to 10 p. m., and received a most cordial welcome by Dr. Dodge and his estimable wife and were made to feel at home.

The house was beautifully decorated. In the afternoon Mrs. Robert Anderson, Mrs. Jack Camp, Mrs. D. E. McIver, Mrs. C. C. Todd and Mrs. H. L. Anderson assisted in receiving. In the dining room refreshments were served by Miss Alice Campbell, Mrs. John Taylor and Mrs. Mary Dodge Maddox. Mrs. C. H. Lloyd poured the coffee. The refreshments consisted of chicken salad, wafers and olives,

In the evening those who assisted Dr. and Mrs. Dodge in receiving were Messrs. D. E. McIver, R. D. Fuller, George MacKay, H. L. Anderson and Mrs. H. L. Anderson, Mrs. Edwin W. Davis and Mrs. Strunk. Those who served refreshments were Misses Bettie McIver, Frances Anderson and Eugenia Fuller. Mrs. George Davis presided over the coffee urn.

Text of the Lesson, Act i, 1-14-Memory Verses, 8, 9-Golden Text, Luke xxiv, 51-Commentary Prepared by Dev. D. M. Stearns.

[Copyright, 1908, by American Press Association.] We could not have a better lesson for the new year than the story of the ascension of our Lord, for the only way to live here the life that He desires us to live is in the power of Him who hath ascended on high, who hath led captivity captive and received gifts for men-yea, for the rebellious alsothat the Lord God might dwell among them (Ps. Ixviii, 18; Eph. iv. 7, 8). Many people desire as they begin a new year to make a better record than in the past, and it is always possible in the power of the Holy Spirit, who represents on earth Him who is at God's right hand for us. This book in which called the acts of the Holy Spirit through the apostles, and the same Holy Spirit desires to live in us and possess us fully for the glory of God. as it is written, "The Spirit whom He usual wakes for the old year and greeting for the new.
